

- CONCEALMENT AND CAMOUFLAGE. Emphasize use of concealment and camouflage to deceive guerrillas as to the location of forces, patrol bases, and combat bases. Discuss guerrilla techniques of concealment and camouflage.
- SQUAD, SECTION, AND PLATOON TACTICAL EXERCISES AND RANGER TRAINING. Incorporate the conduct of raids and ambushes on guerrilla forces. Stress tactics and techniques employed by small units in offensive and defensive operations against guerrilla force infiltrators. Emphasize security, intelligence, communications, and the use of aggressive actions when contacting guerrilla elements.
- COMBINED ARMS TRAINING. Instruct on the capabilities, optimum roles, and techniques of employment of armor, artillery, aviation, and infantry. Emphasize close coordination between all tactical elements. This training should stress the capability of armor, particularly armored cavalry units, to cover large trafficable areas and to perform reconnaissance and security missions. Air mobility and the use of air cavalry are included.
- FIRST AID AND EVACUATION. Integrate first aid training including care of wounds, snakebites, CPR, manual evacuation carries, and use of improvised splints and litters.
- JOINT AND COMBINED TRAINING. Stress the concepts, techniques, and procedures required to coordinate the activities of units with military and civilian US, host country, and allied units and agencies.

SECTION III TRAINING OF HOST COUNTRY PERSONNEL

GENERAL

In general, those skills, concepts, and procedures for foreign internal defense which are taught to US forces are also applicable to host country forces for IDAD. Training emphasis varies according to the host country's requirement, force composition, and US-host country agreements.

OUT-OF-COUNTRY TRAINING. The US Army provides out-of-country training to military personnel of selected countries under either Foreign Military Sales or under the International Military Education Training program. AR 550-50 contains policies and procedures pertaining to the administration of foreign training by the US Army.

TRAINING PROGRAMS

Training assistance for host country forces is usually the result of an agreement negotiated between US and host country officials at the national level. This agreement provides the framework for who, when, where, how, and how many.

The training to be conducted depends on the situation and will vary considerably.
